Property Overview

71 19th Street, Hermosa Beach, CA

71 19th Street presents a rare opportunity to acquire a pride-of-ownership multifamily asset in one of Southern California's most desirable coastal communities. Located just steps from the sand in the heart of Hermosa Beach, the property consists of seven 1-bedroom/1-bathroom units and will be delivered with two vacant units, providing a new owner with an immediate value-add opportunity rarely found in today's market. The vacant units allow investors to renovate and reposition from day one, capturing market rents without the delays and uncertainty often associated with tenant turnover. Combined with the property's existing below-market rent roll, investors have a clear pathway to significantly increase income and unlock substantial upside over time. The ability to immediately renovate and lease two units at current market rates creates an attractive opportunity to establish higher rental benchmarks for the property while enhancing overall asset value.

Additionally, the vacant units provide flexibility for a furnished rental or short-term rental strategy (subject to local regulations and permitting requirements), offering investors the potential to further increase cash flow by capitalizing on Hermosa Beach's year-round tourism and coastal lifestyle appeal.

Beyond the operational upside, investors can benefit from valuable tax advantages through depreciation and potential cost segregation strategies, helping offset income while building long-term wealth. Whether repositioned as a premium beach rental asset, operated with a hybrid furnished rental strategy, or held as a legacy investment, 71 19th Street offers an exceptional combination of immediate upside, long-term appreciation potential, and irreplaceable coastal location.

Ideally situated just moments from the beach, Hermosa Pier, award-winning restaurants, boutique retail, and major employment centers throughout the South Bay, the property benefits from the exceptional demand that continues to drive both rental growth and long-term appreciation in Hermosa Beach. With limited multifamily inventory, restrictive development opportunities, and high barriers to entry, coastal apartment buildings of this size and location rarely come to market.

Hermosa won't appeal court ruling overturning short term rental ban in its coastal zone

Kevin Cody • May 13, 2026

Hermosa Beach will not appeal a Los Angeles Superior Court ruling in March that found the city's decade old ban on short term rentals (STRs) in the coastal zone is illegal.

The decision was made on a 4 to 1 vote by the city council in closed session Tuesday night. Except to announce the decision, the council did not discuss the issue in Tuesday's open session.

Hermosa banned STRs in 2016 throughout the city, including in the Coastal Zone, which includes nearly half the city. But the ban has been rarely enforced and largely ignored. STR websites advertise 200 to 300 sites in Hermosa throughout the year.

Since 2016, Hermosa Beach has issued only nine STR permits, which cost $1,500 annually, according to a staff report to the City Council last September. STRs must also pay the City's 14% Transient Occupancy Tax (TOT), which amounted to $189,000 in the last fiscal year, according to the September 2025 staff report.

Tuesday's decision not to appeal the ruling paves the way for the deficit facing city to collect a $1 million or more in TOT revenue from STRs.

Like Hermosa Beach, Manhattan banned STRs in 2016 throughout the city. But a court found its ban in the coastal zone to be illegal in 2019.

Manhattan Beach spent approximately $1 million in unsuccessfully appealing its STR case, up to the California Supreme Court.

During its last fiscal year, Manhattan received $1.7 million in TOT revenue from 191 registered STRs in its Coastal Zone.

Attorney Frank Angel was the plaintiffs' attorney in both the Hermosa Beach and Manhattan Beach cases.

In both cases, he made the same argument — cities can't ban STRs in the Coastal Zone without Coastal Commission approval, which Hermosa does not have. ER

LOCATION OVERVIEW

Hermosa

BEACH, CA

A sunny small beach City of 1.43 square miles, Hermosa Beach sits at the center of Los Angeles County's South Bay coastline, just 6 miles south of Los Angeles International Airport and twenty-one miles from Downtown Los Angeles. A bedroom community with a flourishing downtown, the City of Hermosa Beach serves a stable population of 19,847, according to the State's latest population estimate.

TOURISM DRIVERS

The city's Economic Development Strategy emphasizes supporting existing businesses while attracting new enterprises and tourism. Key goals include diversifying the economy beyond its main industries of accommodation, food service, and retail trade, and fostering a creative economy that supports a range of services, arts, entertainment, and retail.

Business Environment

Hermosa Beach is characterized by its "bedroom community" nature, with over 10,000 households and fewer than 1,000 in-city businesses (excluding apartments and home occupations). Despite its small size, the city has experienced steady economic growth, with a 6.2% increase in assessed property valuation as of 2022.

TOP REGIONAL EMPLOYERS

Location Highlights

Hermosa Beach, a picturesque coastal city in Los Angeles County's South Bay region, boasts a vibrant and diverse economy that reflects its unique blend of residential charm and tourist appeal.

LEISURE & HOSPITALITY

This sector is a cornerstone of Hermosa Beach's economy, accounting for approximately 23% of employment. The city's scenic beaches, surf culture, and vibrant nightlife attract numerous visitors, supporting a range of businesses from hotels to recreational services.

EDUCATION & HEALTH SERVICES

Comprising about 19% of the employment landscape, this sector includes local schools, healthcare providers, and wellness centers, serving both residents and neighboring communities.

PROFESSIONAL AND MANAGEMENT SERVICES

Representing around 12% of employment, this sector encompasses a variety of businesses, including consulting firms, legal services, and administrative support, reflecting the city's educated workforce.

HIGH BARRIER-TO-ENTRY MARKET

Demand for single-family homes in the Hermosa Beach submarket is consistently high due to several factors. The city's desirable location, proximity to major employment hubs, and lifestyle amenities attract a high number of families and individuals seeking urban amenities.

In terms of supply, Hermosa Beach has a limited amount of new development land. This, coupled with strict zoning regulations, contribute to a relatively limited supply of single-family homes. As a result, the market for single-family homes in Hermosa Beach tends to be competitive, with properties often selling quickly at or above asking prices.
